Furthermore, the volume of our business with these customers may vary from period to period. Our business, operations, revenues and profitability may be adversely affected if these customers demand price reductions, set-off any payment obligations or if there is an adverse change in any of our customers' strategies, including availing of services from our competitors. While we have not lost any of our customers during last three Fiscals and in current financial year, there can be no assurance that we will continue to retain them in the future. Currently, no directions, orders, or observations have been received from the adjudicating authority. While the Company has acted in good faith and taken steps to address the procedural non-compliance, any directions or requirements from the adjudicating authority could entail administrative actions, additional compliance costs, and potential delays, and may require the Company or its Directors to undertake specific actions as may be directed by the competent authority. Our business operates primarily in the engineering, procurement and construction (“EPC”) segment across sectors such as Indian Railways, drinking water and waste water treatment, transmission and distribution, power distribution panels, compact sub-stations and SCADA and automation systems. These markets are subject to evolving regulatory frameworks, project execution risks, competitive dynamics and changes in government spending, making it difficult for us to accurately predict our future results of operations or fully assess the extent of our market opportunity. Sustained negative cash flows from operating activities over an extended period, or material negative cash flows in the short term, could adversely affect our liquidity position and may impair our ability to efficiently operate our business, meet working capital requirements, service debt obligations and successfully implement our growth and expansion plans. As a result, our cash flows, business, future financial performance and results of operations could be materially and adversely affected.
